

Delia knows that her work as an interior designer often involves helping couples with different decorating preferences to compromise with each other. The savvy decorator recently helped five married couples make decisions. Each couple is redecorating a different room (including a family room) and was having trouble agreeing on how to finish the floor. Delia helped each pick out a different kind of flooring that would suit all the room's functions. Can you match each husband with his wife, as well as find the type of flooring they picked for the room they are redecorating? Note: Husbands are Angelo, Burt, Chester, Clifford, and Wilbur, while wives are Dorothy, Elizabeth, Eva, Martina, and Selma.

1. Four of the couples are Wilbur and his wife, Eva and her husband, the ones redecorating a bedroom, and the ones who picked hardwood flooring.
2. Burt and his wife chose ceramic tiling; the couple who is redoing a bathroom decided on vinyl flooring.
3. Dorothy and her husband, who isn't Wilbur, decided to carpet their room.
4. Clifford is married to Martina. They are neither the ones who picked hardwood flooring nor the ones who picked laminate flooring.
5. Elizabeth, who isn't part of the couple redecorating a kitchen, isn't married to Angelo, who is redoing a living room.
